

Law of Life 3

Seven Light densities (1-3)

Welcome to the continuation of the Law of Life.

The Law of Life is written by Light. The Law of Life is the Law of Light.

Humans have only just entered the knowledge of Life and Light, but this knowledge will cause a quantum leap and we will become like angels, whose overwhelming brightness compels you to protect your eyes with a gesture of your hand. They have already walked the path we are walking now as conquerors and reaped the light reward that crystallized their genes and bodies and thus received more attributes of the omniscient and all-powerful Light Source. They can act on us like the superheroes of the Marvel movies.

I begin the presentation of Light with a broad view of what I see when I look at it from afar. How the Light manifests according to saturation, how the light density determines the levels of existence and the order of progression of souls, how Its gravitational force draws you to Itself and where, at the point of your progression towards the Light, you are right now, we will try to answer in this article, in the following we will get to know the Light more closely and illuminate some aspects of the Law through It's eyes in order to understand ourselves and tune in to It..

The seven Light densities serve as the foundation for further learning about the Law of Life. The light densities evoked in me a mixture of infinite gratitude for the panoramic view that the reading created in me and humility at the realization of how little I still know. The seven levels of Light densities are the path along which the soul progresses towards higher vibrations, in which the number seven is one of the building blocks of the constitution of the universe. The seven Light densities coincide with the seven energy vortices of the bodies, with the seven tones of the musical scale and the seven colors of the rainbow. Light, sound and color are the primary building blocks of the self-creating universe.

I use the word self-creating to emphasize that the universe is not a creation that was created some million years ago, but rather the universe originates at this moment from the Light Source, which is the Thought of the primary Mind.

Maturation during the making of the Law of Life is most noticeable in the growing certainty of my inner feeling, which bubbles more and more distinctly like a crystal well somewhere in the gut and puts me on the path of its decisions without objection.

This may sound like courage, but it's more a complete powerlessness to say 'No' to this pull. It reminds of the madness of lovers who see only One and nothing else. Maturing with the Light equips you with increasing certainty in discerning what to accept and what to reject, and to feel comfortable in the otherwise scary fact that you are absolutely alone in this discernment.

Similar to Toltec knowledge, which took root in areas of higher Light density, or like the "Gospel, as it was revealed to me", was created during the 2nd ww in N. Italy, which was written by a being of a higher Light density, known to us by the name of Jesus and I mention it many times, so is the Law of One according to Ra, which was my inspiration for the Law of Life, a book that cannot be written by a man of ordinary consciousness who has not yet penetrated the veil of oblivion. It has been available to us since the early 80s. I am attaching a link to it below so you can feel the authenticity of its information for yourself.

It is especially true of this work that it is revealed to your understanding as you mature for it. You are ripe for it when it crosses your path and knocks on the door of your attention. Trusting in the infallibility of Life's events regulated by the Law of Life can convince you that you are exactly where you need to be and that you have everything you need to receive it. The Law of One according to Ra is, along with several others, a gift from the heights we are just entering.

The Law of Life

How precisely and unerringly calibrated Life is will be shown by the Light density, which determines the level and expressiveness of consciousness, the level of being, the speed and height of frequency, form and structure, and at the same time equips us with the distance necessary for an objective view of ourselves and gives maneuverability space for constructive decision making.

The Light will show that the highest use of free will is to tune into It.
The highest meaning of organic existence is re-fusion with the Source, it is the unification of one's will with the will of Love, which drives the Light along Its creative paths.

If Light, and with it the spectrum of colors and tones, is the only creative element, Love is the inspiration of this brush of light. I hope you follow along. Subject to the will of Love, you are free in the deepest sense of the word, when at the same time you have no say in the service of this Victorious Force, which you cannot call Mine, even though you are It.

This principle of the Law of Life, that you are absolutely free only when you completely give up freedom, is easier to understand when you know that the universe is the means by which the One Eternal Creator experiences Himself (sexless).

People often take themselves too seriously precisely because of a misunderstanding of this play of Light, in which the entire apparent world, even on higher, less material levels, is a reflection of the Source, of the Truth, not the Source, not the Truth itself. You don't get caught up in the world of physical stimulation, mental acrobatics, and emotional dramas that little-no-not all of our bodies depend on, and put the Light back into the very center of your attention as the only destination you're going to, whether you know it or not. Losing this focal point is at the heart of all confusion.

There are infinite universes called octaves and the one we are in is one of those octaves. Life fills the last corner, not only of the visible universe as perceived by our carbon eyes, but simultaneously on different vibrational levels, all the countless other worlds seen only by crystalline or ethereal eyes, or dream eyes.

The visible part of the universe is constantly changing and self-creating... so these seven levels can also become nine or twelve, depending on what the criterion of separation is. Stay flexible, listen with your heart, experience knowledge rather than trying to understand it, and don't build pegs that can't be moved tomorrow. Let the present pattern of Light densities serve you to unfold your view into a panoramic one, so that you can see yourself more clearly and step even more decisively on the path of Light.

In realizing what you know... and as you will realize,
'Everybody knows Everything!', without having to learn it, the dividing line between positive and negative choices is clearly drawn.

Both know! The positive realizes this knowing through a qualitative character transformation, while the negative reflects on this knowing by debates, speaks, writes books, appears at conferences, travels and lectures, completely forgetting that it is "God who knows" both he and everyone to whom he lectures. So keep quiet and just do it. Don't be one of those people who ungratefully spew knowledge out of you by talking.

The magic of presence

What would be the justice of the Light if everyone had to get a doctorate in a high spiritual science in order to progress through It. Therefore, I emphasize, this knowledge is not absolutely necessary to progress to an increasing content of Light, in pure understanding you do not need to know or to learn anything that you do not already have as an inner knowing.

It unfolds as much Clarity as you need to turn right at any moment. Inner knowing doesn't mean you know everything, it means knowing the right things at the right time. Being present connects you to the panoramic view of Love, which is All, so we cannot invent or explain its moves, we do not have all the cards in our hand, She has them!

The Law of Life unfailingly places you in such circumstances, in which you have the best possible conditions for growth.
You cannot surpass them by your efforts.

Therefore, all you need to progress through higher and higher Light densities is to be fully present to what Life is doing right now and to trust the Law that you are equipped with everything you need to constructively face each trial.

Enter the Flow of Life's ever-rising energy, when you train your attention to see God continuously and step out of time.

You realize the first when you enter the Perfection of Oneness and read the Immaculate Order in every movement and in every face of God. God cannot teach Himself anything that He does not already know, so you do not need to know this and that and improve yourself.

Take comfort in the fact that this is truly a terrible thing, the worst thing you will experience... to finally lean into yourself, to finally see something in yourself that reassures you and gives you unbreakable security, is literally a leap into the unknown. You can burn out in resentment, or you can shine from the Power that you are. I hope that the Law of Life and the touch of Light will succeed in inviting you to flourish.

And the second thing you need to enlighten yourself is to step out of time; to ignore every thought and information that forces you to react to something that has already happened or to plan for what is yet to happen and simply remain, to the last fiber, attentive to what Life unfolds in your knowledge right now. Recognize and don't fit into a time that doesn't exist. Don't allow yourself to slip up or overlook anything. Recognize that answering the phone message you just received, makes you reactive responders to the past, that a comment on an event that has already passed or is about to happen throws you out of the flow of Life, that a seemingly innocent question "how you have been" causes a loss of Light for the questioner and the one who responds to it etc. after the endless lures of this world that does not want you in wholesome presence.

Light densities

Light density is the interlacing of light within a certain range of oscillation.

The lower the density, the lower the level of vibration and the lower the possibility of expressing consciousness. Higher densities have a higher level of vibration and greater ability to express consciousness, all the way to full expression of pure Consciousness and fusion with Source. It is the driver of the evolution of consciousness and the primary principle of the Law of Life.

Things in which this principle Lives and is driven, is every authentic organic experience.

Thus the physical and metaphysical universe, without the possibility of interruption or arbitrary decision-making, progresses to ever higher Light content. All experiences push it in this direction, so there are no bad experiences or unnecessary experiences. Thus, eventually, even the greatest tyrants, if they are only organic humans and not synthetic replicas, will at some point choose the path of Light.

In this light, inanimate technology has no value other than diverting your attention away from progressing the path you are here for. The technology of the higher levels of Light is organic and responsive to intention, because it arises from spiritual realizations and understanding of Light.

The first three levels of Light density gives rise to awareness and being. It is associated with the root vortex, the red ray and the atomic body. It sounds at 396 Hz; breaks feelings of guilt, fear and trauma. This level includes all organic creation and its four elements; earth, water, fire and ether. These are minerals, fireplaces, metals and elements.

The first level of Light density...

The second level of Light density...

it gives rise to growth and movement. It is associated with the sacral or sexual vortex, the orange ray and the chemical body. It sounds at 417 Hz; it raises to positive decisions and initiates self-generated creativity. This level includes biological life and organic things with autonomous movement, which therefore move by themselves. This is the world of microbes and microorganisms, plants and animals.

At this level, consciousness begins to communicate and enter into relationships. Thus it gains the experience of being with other forms of Life and responding to them. The newly acquired awareness of relationships and communion is a vehicle of self-exploration.

The third level of light density...

gives rise to self-awareness and choice. It is associated with the vortex of the solar plexus, the yellow ray, and likewise the chemical body. It sounds at 528 Hz; known as a transformative frequency that affects cellular processes and transforms neural pathways in the brain that have been disrupted by beliefs inconsistent with the Law of Life.

This is the level most of us are at. It is the shortest and most intense level because duality and oblivion are present in it. Oblivion at this level obscures the memory of previous experiences and the soul has no awareness that it is walking the path of progression towards the Source. This allows the soul a completely authentic choice between positive and negative polarity. The catalyst for evolution at the third level is psychological suffering, which is why this level is so difficult compared to the others.

Suffering forces the consciousness to free itself from the ego, which is the result of being on second level of light density, and invites the soul to true sovereignty and responsibility over itself. The tension on the third level is very high because both polarities must be present in equal proportion. The formation of the ego creates a feeling of separation from everything, and as a result barbaric and violent behavior, which is strongest at the beginning of the third level and decreases as it progresses towards the fourth level. It is this part of human history that is known.

When the soul reaches the limit of tolerance of enduring violence, it becomes ripe for love and understanding, which are attributes of light and thus trigger the reminder that it is actually eternal as its Light Source, in a temporary physical experience. At this point the soul chooses one of the two polarities.

If the soul chooses the negative pole,
it continues its evolution in service to itself,
if it chooses to positive, it continues the promotion by serving others or Whole. How then will the soul progress, it depends on the very choice you make on this point we are on right now.

The continuation of the journey is then about exploring, learning and increasing that choice. If consciousness sleeps in stone and dreams in animals, it awakens in man. It gives you a tremendous sense of respect and gratitude for the Life you are living right now.

To get to the point where you understand the value of Love and the beauty of Oneness, you had to sleep for a long time, dream for quite a while and suffer a lot. All of this should not be news to you, because even without the intention of doing so, during your stay at this level you experience all three levels, which your consciousness records and informs through inner certainty. What we don't know is how consciousness progresses after this level.

We were taught about this 2000 years ago by a being who came from a higher level of Light density called Jesus, but at that time we were not ready, not yet saturated enough with suffering to want to leave the oblivion of our true nature and allow ourselves to be drawn by its inertia towards Light. Thus, since then, the higher Light beings have continuously taught us about our Light origin, which, together with the accumulation of suffering, reached a breakthrough point in the mid-80s and crossed the threshold of the fourth level in 2012.
