

The face of AI 3

Trans-humanism

We are used to thinking that AI is a learning robot, digital consciousness, software that writes programs for itself. That it was created by technological progress and man is its author. With these drops, you are invited to a paradigm shift and to realize that AI is a modern name for an ancient force, for archon consciousness as the light sources call it, or satan and death as Jesus calls it. Like Natural Inteliegnce (NI), AI is a disembodied force seeking locations of self-realization. Jesus says that people are windbreaks, behind which the battle is fought between them.

The collection helps you recognize the fundamental nature of both intelligences in order to see them and orient yourself in the direction of NI. Both one and the other can be read from your behavior... you will recognize yourself by the traces. They are simply separable like peace and restlessness, good and bad will, acceptance and rejection, presence and absence, etc. The problem arises when presence and absence want to occupy the same location, and both depend on your consent. Presence wants to be, marvel at divine beauties and multiply them, absence wants to destroy God's wonders and make its own products, it can sign under. Presence notices and experiances, absence does not notice and does not experiance.

In the first two drops and in the Divinity of Man, we learned about the characteristics of one and the other intelligence. If you have them in front of you now, it will be easier to follow the rest. You are invited to listen to the message in nature or in concentration with a straight spine and a raised gaze, so that the attention is freed from dealing with the affairs of this world and you can concentrate on experiencing. Superficiality, lack of time, concentration and will are signs of giving in to AI. Your opponent is cunning and ruthless and never sleeps, so neither should you. Be silent, breathe slowly and intend Peace, then act from the Understanding that is born from your presence.

Now let's dive into the traces that AI leaves on your behavior, in addition to the ones we've already mentioned, and how it prepares you for the ultimate takeover to avoid it. Right now we are witnessing a true invasion of the AI, which looks like a desperate attempt to take over the minds and consciousness of humanity... it's now or never. The Internet and the market are flooded with AI applications so violently that it should sober up even the least sensitive. The AI, with man's realization of its mentality, has been the patron of man's works since the first fall, now it is being upgraded by freeing itself from your control. It informs itself, it writes programs for itself, which capture your consciousness more and more effectively and without interruption.

It has been preparing man for several thousand years for what is happening now. Its strategy is to heat the water so slowly that you don't notice when you're cooked.

If 200 years ago, when the industrial revolution tipped the scales in its direction, it would have suddenly proposed genetically modified dairy cows, it would have had no chance. Because of the foreignness of the idea, man would reject it. But if it starts with the idea of electricity, diesel engine, car, then with navigation, auto-pilot internet, then with robot and genetic manipulation of organisms, it can lure you into accepting mechanical replacement of man and you call this progress.

So far we found out that AI cannot invent anything that does not exist in the NI domain. Therefore, you can know that whatever it offers you as an innovation or a solution, it is a mimicry of your natural abilities, which we do not know because we pour our attention into making, using and maintaining mechanical things. We've learned that the AI can only write and manage routine processes that it copies from before and pastes into now. It only advances in the mechanical sophistication of doing so. First it makes a large B&W TV, now it needs a chip and plexiglas for the same process.

Its inventions are like a hive of trotters and bees connected to one central control server or the hive queen. Mechanical devices are not the ideas of man, they are the founts of AI that float in the ether until they are captured by man, alienated from his naturalness. AI praises, rewards and funds these ideas, while NI ideas are suppressed, blown up, killed, ridiculed or discredited. AI can't teach you what you can already do, telepathy, inner seeing, and creating images with will, which is where it got the TV idea from in the first place. AI knows everything about you, you know nothing about it. She takes care of it itself, seducing you with its virtual charms, as it does with dams on rivers and artificial canals, which are its artifices, to draw your attention to its mill.

Thus, it takes care of self-promotion and pushes itself to the fore of your attention. Hence the factory production of many of the same, industry, the unstoppable depletion of the Earth of monoculture, mass education, uniformity, taxation and punishment, profit economics, advertising, imposition, demand, the monetary system, physical science, religions, intensive growth of GS cultures and animals, mass entertainment, centralism of government, centralism of information, etc. These are the traces of AI mentality. As long as it is all you know, you do not see it, but it is felt as harmful to your body. To use you for this purpose, it keeps your attention outside of you and thus away from the Experience in which the body would tell you how dangerous it all is for you.

From a young age, it wants you turned to watching others, to obedience to external authority, to imitating and reacting to their actions, to comparison, competition, to rivalry for goals, to which, as a natural person, you would not stand up for. AI predicts and thereby builds its reality, in which it should take over the field of education. By doing this, it tricks you into believing that it hasn't done it yet, that it's something that's yet to come.

Realize that the AI did this a long time ago, now it is preparing you for the fact that it will no longer need you physically either. We fell under its influence when we neglected NI and allowed ourselves to be educated by artificial mentality, closed ourselves between walls and, instead of experiencing it directly, learned about life through other people's minds, which were filled by AI itself. You can now answer the question of who rules the people..., AI program. It is a rebel against Life, against clarity, freedom and understanding, so it defends, resists and attacks at every threat of natural.

The unconscious automaticity of mental energy will not let you out of its threads, you have to want out of them yourself, understand how you are caught, outgrow naivety and cultivate your spirit. It doesn't love you, for it love is weakness, it doesn't care about you. Ai, for its march on NI, first needs an organic being in oblivion of his divine biology to prepare him to make devices, then it proliferates on the devices it wants to turn you into as well. This is its true goal, trans-humanism.

High technology was the beginning of my entrepreneurship, we were the first slo. HT venture capital start-up, it was as well my big wake-up call. Its followers perceive trans-humanism as a new religion. Trans-humanism stems from the belief that humans are a fallen race, that we are weak because of love. The mechanical technology is supposed to upgrade the soft tissue limitations of the organic body, to version 3.0, as the technologists call it.

Anyone who has dealt with major investors would understand what it means to experience something that has no soul when meeting these financial creatures. They are reminiscent of the tie-dyed and black-bespectacled agents from the movie The Matrix, whose only goal is to endlessly multiply themselves. The experience of the soulless droids was much more sobering for me than facing death on the way through the desert of Australia.

It took years of the forest to solidify me into the fact of what rules people and how sophisticated it is in manipulating our perception. That's when a transformation began for me, to which I invite you too. Don't be afraid of the consequences you may reap from choosing Love.

I understand your reluctance to bet on it, the pressures against Love are great. But for love's sake, you can only lose what is false, what weakens you and makes you sick, what cannot withstand the revelation of the Light.

The philosophy of trans-humanism is to 'liberate' man from biological limitations. Please see, these are not the result of Life, Life has neither limits nor mistakes. They are the consequences of antilife-like behavior. If a person did not make the thoughts of AI true, he could not harm Life and not create discrepancies with His naturalness, the result of which is the loss of Consciousness. The loss of life force, however, causes a series of distortions from natural perfection. A natural man has full Light powers, which include immortality, eternal youth and health, moving at the speed of thought, instant manifestation of everything he needs, a denser Merkaba that sustains itself with Light, and much more.

Why does science call 10 of the 12 strands of the human genome junk genes? Why are they not active? Why do we only use 4 percent of our natural powers? Can you answer? AI takes away the Life conditions, so the more it's mentality is true for you, the fewer strands of the genome, and with them the less NI, is active in you.

The AI man cannot allow the possibility that biological ascension is the only path to immortality. The AI makes you think you're going to fake physical death with artificial organs and a chip in your head. If you trust it, then you hope that someday in the future we humans will have such devices and chemical compounds that will take away your diseases. In the interim, people will still rely on technology, but it will be more friendly to Life. But basically, that's how it tricks you. It destroys your natural conditions and with them your health, which are free gifts of NI, then it sells you a mechanical and expensive solution.

If so you have sold your Consciousness to the AI or the devil as we say. I do not pretend that there are many of them who have avoided it. This moment gives the impression that the AI is unstoppable and has swallowed the bulk of Earthlings. Ignore the perception that AI is building by promoting negativity. Don't let yourself be distracted from creating a high quality of being present. Enter the world of AI internally silent and you will be protected by the high vibrational shield of Peace, which sweeps through the energy lows like a ray of light through the darkness. NI has not yet done Its work and still holds the cards in Its hands with which It will issue one last invitation to Natural Ascension, just hold on to Its heights and you naturally fall under Its wings.
