

Germination time

Welcome to this more literally organic drop, which presents the lesson that nature gives us through the germination of a seed. You will not find your way out of the seed by banging against the walls, begging for help from the outside. The path from the seed opens itself for you when you express the will to grow and when the right conditions arise. See how simple and supreme this logic of nature is, which is not a struggle with the opponents, it is the natural inertia of Life after the continuous transcendence of a given state. If you don't want something, focus on emitting the exact opposite charges... no matter how foreign gratitude may seem when you're in the middle of some unpleasantness, or just be still and not react. This is the self-standing and spontaneity of Life, which derives its impulses for moods from within, which has not been penetrated by foreignness. It is your task to refine the inner space to such a shine, that reflects the spotlessness of Life's perfection. As innerly clean You cannot create discord with the Will of Life.

The meetings of the expert minds of the world cannot arrive at this eternally triumphant logic of Life. A thought separated from the Source thinks that everything depends on it, that if it does not act, everything will be destroyed. It does not notice that the present misery is its creation. It will convince you that you cannot simply ignore what is happening around you, that you must act, react, engage, that allowing others to do what they want is indifference. This is an explanation. Allowing others freedom, even though they use it to make things worse, is the highest form of active Love, which sees in everything the flawlessness of the Will of Life.

As long as pleasures and discomforts drag you to their highs and lows, until then you need incubation to prepare you for germination, for the mission for which you are (here). When the seed incubates long enough in the darkness of the earth, it matures and grows inwardly through events that mirror its ignorance of itself. Through the inconveniences, it moves further and further away from the apparent attraction of this world and calms down more and more in itself. Thus, the energy remains in it and expands, pierces the shell, buries its softness of Vitality in the hard environment and rushes towards the Sun. It cannot help but do it because it is Alive. Only dead seed will not germinate when the right conditions arise. If you don't know what drives the events of this world, you get caught and ground into dust as easily as a bug gets smashed under your foot and you don't notice. They pull you into their waves until you become exhausted to the knowing that each is a temporary arrangement of circumstances that mirror your energetic state in order to see yourself.

What we once celebrated as humanity, what united us, is now a weapon of separation..., men vs. women (or vice versa), old vs. young, white vs. black, Christian vs. Muslim, left vs. right, east vs. west, north vs. south, husband against wife, parent against child... . Once the multiplicity, colorfulness and complementarity, which are the core of Life, today is the source of stumbling blocks on which you have incubated for a long time to soften you appropriately for the sensitivity of Life and yet you would feel the ugliness of such behavior. When you stop identifying with the tangible, resistance to anything falls. You cannot see Divinity, but you can see its effect, the body. Divinity cannot be attacked in any way, but the body can be used as a means of attacking Divinity, because it is the very biology of the body that connects you to It.

When you build enough detachment from the drama of the world and Peace appears in you, you see what has kept you between the millstones of circumstances and why it wants it. Identified with the body and with attention outside yourself, you are helpless victim of 'circumstances' in need of a 'savior'. You will germinate when you experientially come to the conviction that you cannot rely on any tangibility, not even this body, as long as it is ruled by ignorance and as long as you are human, not android, to know the essence of yourself and Life. Likewise, things cannot touch the Source that creates them, so they do not have the Power to cause anything, neither to make you sick nor to heal. Even when you supposedly empower them with your belief, it is still the Power Source that heals and not the thing you think is supposed to be doing it. I hope that this helps someone in germinating to Freedom.

So, the more you play the drama game of this world, the less you know you are playing it, until you are an unconscious piece on the chessboard of the blacks who write the game. The more you know yourself, the more you Live your Loving Essence, the less you care about the whole world, the more solid Peace you have, the more joy there is in you and contentment with what you have, the healthier you are, the more inspired you are by the Beauty of Life, that you are again, and you see in everything, once freed from the illusion of separation.

This suspension expresses itself as my expulsion from myself. The ego is an invention, it is an illusion, it does not exist anywhere, only in this thought. Therefore, I must die in what I think benefits or harms me, heals me or makes me sick, so that this apparition will lose its power over me, get out of the way and allow me to germinate. I know it's time to run carefree towards the Light, to leave the lie I've been thinking. Now I sprout as a transformed being from inner purity, without endangerment reactivity, free and once again in the Flow of Life which is Perfection, which needs no work of mine, only Trust and Surrender.

I remember that I am embodied Light, that I am woven from Love, that I am allowed to grow into something that I do not yet know. Growth is always into the unknown. We have not yet expressed ourselves as full-blooded people, but there are more and more of them who know what pure humanity is. We are all pioneers in the mastery of Loving and creating with God, Life. Remember that you are a silent spring that hopes to die like a sealed seed, to leave the safety of the familiar and confidently rush towards the Light, seeing in the hardness of the surrounding soil good conditions for a solid foundation, not a threat.

In this you are supported more than anything by the skill of stealth, mastery of the heart and now quantum science, which are tools to shed light on the seed darkness. Do not be afraid to let go of your grip, with your efforts you are preventing the High Solution. Don't be afraid of silence, it will rebirth you. Don't be afraid for the children, concern prevents High Protection, which is also over them. Do not be afraid of greed and betrayal of your fellow man, everyone writes his own destiny with his actions, so just watch what you do. Don't be afraid of solitude, it opens the door to a true connection with everything. Don't be afraid of pain, it makes you soft and wise. Do not fear for this little existence, you are eternally children of the Most High. It is a faultlessness, impeccability in which the quality of energy you pour into this moment creates your reality. The quality of the growing conditions is solely in your hands. Therefore, just germinate, sink your roots into hard circumstances and create a firm support in the depths which is not shaken by the turbulence of the surface.

One thing is certain, there is no one who has not experienced the ugliness of a fellow human being,, often the closest one, because of material benefits, jealousy and envy. If so, stay in Peace, don't judge, don't demand human justice. Do not react to the drama fueled by ignorance and addiction to perishability, without Life's value. Know that your acceptance and gratitude, even and especially for difficult people and situations, is an opportunity to express the Love that accepts, the Freedom that allows others to be themselves, and the Understanding that Sees the Big Picture. These kinds of responses to unpleasant trials are steps to the Light. Be the initiator to break the alliance with the old paradigm of warfare and stop watering these weeds so that they fail by the roots.

Love, Freedom and Understanding are the main targets of the trans-humanist movement, and artificial thought long before that, which promotes love for weakness, freedom for anarchism and the understanding of the unity of Life as madness, thus revealing its very attributes, so just be careful what you see when you look at what you look at, because you always look from yourself. Social progress dictated by AI is pushed in front of the attention screen as a 'savior'.

Young people especially do not have the aloofness of staying in nature for a long time in order to feel the beneficence and homeliness of nature, so they are wide open to the idea that the device can improve them. As long as you are entangled in the waves of drama, you are suffocating in the splashes of the darkness of unrest, you are giving your children a message of weakness, dependence and endangerment. When you climb the stealth mast and transcend the waves, you see the context that triggers those waves. Your Divinity is at the very center of this broad picture.

The best thing about this is that you don't need to know any of this, until you live like an unrelenting warrior who gives his best every moment and lives in such a way that he can't blame himself for anything and never make excuses. As an unrelenting warrior, you are a spiritual being, One with the Will of Life, whom you give free rein in everything to do with you absolutely as it pleases. Remember the non-resistance of Jesus' story. Do not judge or resist anyone or anything. In Acceptance and Trust, you sound just high enough to fall under the wing of the Most High, even if you are not yet actively loving.

Let me conclude... brilliant flowers and blossoms that keep your Beauty still in the sealed seed..., don't be afraid to stop, to calm the inner waves, and relax with yourself and everything, fix your eyes on Heaven, open your heart and hold it all the time towards the Sky..., upright, dignified, and stable in the present moment, without a single concern about yourself, about anything... and expand. The shell will fall off without any effort. Realize that you are the most beautiful flower known to creation... unique children of the Most High, Eternal, Most Beautiful, Most Perfect... . It's time, germinate now!
